

As same-day and final-mile delivery companies in the transportation industry, we navigate the CBD Zone thousands of times daily to make the urgent, one-off critical deliveries that our customers demand of us. These deliveries include, but are not limited to, medication, lab results, specimens, pharmaceuticals, meals, groceries, critical parts, medical supplies, equipment, & more.

Today, We're Reaching Out with a Crucial Request for NYC's Economic Vitality
We Need Your Support

- Establish a single daily charge for commercial vehicles that is in line with the pricing structure for passenger vehicles, promoting parity and fairness.
- Establish tiered pricing system, a single daily charge, based on vehicle classification, commercial cars, vans and trucks.
- Collaborative approach to designing a tolling program that strikes a balance between generating revenue and supporting the sustainability and growth of the commercial delivery industry.

Unfortunately, The Executive Summary (ES) of The CBD Tolling Program fails to acknowledge the unique challenges faced by our Same Day Delivery category. The ES overlooks the fact that our one-off emergency critical deliveries, that our customers demand of us, prevent us from spreading the toll cost among multiple clients as the ES wrongly suggests. Refer to The ES page 24, Economic Effect on Toll Costs and Price of Goods.

We believe it's vital to address this discrepancy and collaborate on finding a solution that benefits not only our industry but also the wider community. We would appreciate the opportunity to discuss this matter further and explore potential avenues for collaboration.
